Wonderful Website: The digital learning team have been working hard on our new website which has recently been launched. We have included new parent information and an up to date calendar for your reference. Our school blog is also here. Head over to www.stceciliaschool.ie or click on this link to check out all our hard work.

Modular Mad!! We are delighted that the new modular classroom is nearly complete. A huge thank to Adston construction and in particular Joe, the foreman and his team for all their help and understanding towards the students during the process. We are delighted with the rooms. Take a look over on our website at the new classroom.

Student Council Update:

The student council have been working on supporting our peers with visual impairments. In our group meetings we discussed how we could support students with visual impairments and how we can help them be familiar with where they are in school. We had a vote and decided we would use different materials along the junior and senior corridors. The plan is that the student council representatives will decide on a textured material for each classroom door which will highlight the class position along the way. A hand rail will also be used along the wall so our students can feel it as they move around the school.

Staff News: Congratulations to Scott Maguire who is getting married over the Easter Holidays.
